ABOUT THE FORUM AND SPECIAL GUEST

OUR PURPOSE

The 2017 Oklahoma KIDS COUNT Fall Forum is bringing together child advocates from across the state to raise awareness about key issues, share action strategies for meeting the needs of the state's children and youth more effectively, and identify program and policy changes that will improve the health, safety, education and economic well-being of Oklahoma's kids.

CONFERENCE PLANNING PARTNERS

- A&A Advocates
- FKG Consulting
- Sunbeam Family Services

OUR THANKS TO THE FOLLOWING ORGANIZATIONS FOR THEIR GENEROUS SUPPORT OF THE CONFERENCE:

- Annie E. Casey Foundation
- Anthem, Inc.
- Business Imaging Systems
- Epic Charter Schools
- Inasmuch Foundation
- Potts Family Foundation
- Sonic, America's Drive-In
- TSET (Tobacco Settlement Endowment Trust)

A SPECIAL THANKS TO:

- All of our workshop and breakout session presenters who shared their knowledge, expertise, ideas, and commitment to improving the future of our state and its children.
- The Oklahoma Legislative staff members who assisted with the breakout sessions.

SPECIAL GUEST AUDREY PATTON, OKLAHOMA KID GOVERNOR 2017

Sunbeam and the Oklahoma Institute for Child Advocacy (OICA) selected 10-year-old Audrey Patton as Oklahoma's 2017 Kid Governor! The two organizations introduced her in February at the State Capitol, where she gave her acceptance speech and was interviewed by the press. Audrey, a 5th grader at St. John Nepomuk Catholic School in Mustang, was one of 18 children ages 7-11 who submitted videos for the "Vote 4 Kids" campaign led by Sunbeam and OICA. Kid Governors serve each year from February until the Oklahoma KIDS COUNT Fall Forum in November. During Audrey's term, she addressed issues affecting the well-being of Oklahoma's children such as, foster care, childhood poverty, early childhood education and mental health. Audrey says she wanted Oklahomans to pay attention to issues that affect the state's children, specifically food insecurity. Daughter of William and Megan Patton, Audrey's video addressed child hunger and safe homes for children.

"I don't want any child to go to bed wondering where and when their next meal is," said Audrey, who volunteers at the Oklahoma Regional Food Bank. "Children are most vulnerable during the summer when school is out."

AWARDS

2017 LAURA CHOATE RESILIENCE AWARD RECIPIENT

The award was created to celebrate individuals who have been significantly impacted by adverse childhood experiences but have overcome obstacles, made a lasting contribution to the lives of young people, exhibit bravery, demonstrate dedication to fostering resilience in youth and and inspire resilience in youth by exhibiting the characteristics of the “7 Cs of Resilience:”

- Competence: Taking notice of what young people are doing right and giving them opportunities to develop important skills.
- Confidence: Ability to navigate the world, think outside the box, and recover from challenges.
- Connection: Connections with youth and with communities that offer young people the security to stand on their own and develop creative solutions.
- Character: Clear sense of right and wrong and commitment to integrity.
- Contribution: Taking action to improve the well-being of others.
- Coping: Ability to manage adverse experiences and exhibit resilience.
- Control: Understanding and exhibiting characteristics of respect and responsibility.

This award is named for Laura Choate who has served as a lifelong advocate for Oklahoma children and was the first recipient of the Resilience Award. Choate has worked with the OICA to reform the state’s child welfare and juvenile justice system to better serve and protect Oklahoma children. As a youth, Choate served as a plaintiff in a class-action lawsuit that resulted in dramatic changes to Oklahoma’s juvenile justice system and was used as a model by many other states to establish higher standards.

Note: these “7 Cs of Resilience” are based on the research of both Dr. Kenneth Ginsburg and the International Youth Foundation work of Rick Little and colleagues.

2017 MORAN “KIDIZENSHIP” AWARD RECIPIENTS

The Kidizenship Awards is the Oklahoma Institute for Child Advocacy’s inaugural statewide awards program recognizing and rewarding excellence in youth philanthropy. The Awards provide young Oklahomans under the age of 19 across the state with the opportunity to celebrate and showcase their activities which benefit their peers - other young people in Oklahoma. The Awards represent the true Oklahoma Standard - the opportunity to demonstrate how young Oklahomans are making this a great state!

The awards are named after Melvin and Jasmine Moran, philanthropists in their own right, who have spent their lives celebrating opportunities for the youth of Oklahoma. Though most well-known as the founders of the Jasmine Moran Children’s Museum in Seminole, OK, the Moran Family has spent decades dedicated to the improvement of lives of children all across our state.

2018 YEAR OF THE CHILD OBJECTIVES

1. Prioritize the issue of children (ages 0-18) as an issue during the 2018 political campaigns. Ask candidates for office “what is your plan for improving the lives of Oklahoma children?” Provide child centric questions to media to ask candidates and surveys to the candidates themselves.
2. Create and drive a legislative agenda that addresses critical issues affecting children. This may include creation of a children’s cabinet, creation of a coordinated budget and making it “safe” to raise revenue to fund child related initiatives.
3. Promote “Oklahoma’s Expectations for Children” to the public, policy makers and encourage implementation of the goals.
4. Lay the foundation for continuing to prioritize children after 2018 YOTC.
5. Work to include children as a priority in the Oklahoma State Chamber of Commerce OK 2030 Initiative under the “Quality of Life” and “Workforce and Talent Development” foundation components.

Please provide any input or suggestions to Jim Priest: jpriest@sunbeamfamilyservices.org or 405-202-8863

Oklahoma’s Expectations for Children (2018YOTC)

Oklahomans recognize the importance of prioritizing our children and making Oklahoma a place where children are safe, secure, engaged, encouraged, and prepared for life as an adult. In order that Oklahoma may be such a place we establish the following expectations for children and for the state and the people of Oklahoma:

As a people and as a state we will work to insure every Oklahoma child is:

Safe—from abuse, neglect, abandonment and harm to their physical, mental, spiritual, and emotional well being;

Secure—in their access to affordable housing and healthy food, and secure in their home, educational, neighborhood, and worship environments;

Engaged—in positive activities physically, mentally, socially, spiritually, and emotionally both as individuals and within their communities;

Encouraged—by a Champion, who might be their parent or a mentor, and by all Oklahomans, who will speak and act in ways that cheer them on in life; and

Prepared—to reach their full potential in every area of life, especially in the areas of education and career, but also in life skills, so they may become a capable, positive, and contributing citizen of our state. ACTION PLAN 030

2017 LEGISLATIVE SCORECARD

Oklahoma Children's Agenda

OICA works to ensure every child – from birth to adulthood – is nurtured, healthy, educated, protected from harm and thriving. This is our 2017 Children's Agenda.

ADEQUATE FUNDING FOR CHILDREN'S SERVICES

Funding services for low-income and at-risk children is a moral imperative and a defining feature of any civilized, compassionate society. We recognize 2017 is a challenging budget year, but we will not accept any cuts to programs that serve low-income or at-risk children. That includes the Department of Human Services, the Office of Juvenile Affairs, the Department of Education and the state's Medicaid program.

We urge our Legislature to explore new sources of revenue to prevent cuts that could negatively impact our children and negatively impact Oklahoma's long term prosperity.

FOSTER CARE IMPROVEMENTS AND OTHER CHILD WELLBEING MEASURES

All children deserve loving, safe and stable homes. To achieve that goal, we support the successful completion of the Pinnacle Plan, the state's program to improve the Child Welfare system for children in state custody. Additionally, we are committed to supporting permanent improvements even after the completion of the Pinnacle Plan. Our policy checklist (opposite side) includes several reform measures, chief among them SB 727, that contain important and permanent proposals to improve DHS operations.

Additionally, we support policies that improve child health and nutrition. OICA thanks legislators for their overwhelming support of measures like HB 1875, which help schools and food banks partner to reduce hunger and improve nutrition among students.

CRIMINAL JUSTICE REFORM

Oklahoma's overincarceration crisis is breaking up families, leaving children without parents and perpetuating a never-ending cycle of poverty and crime. Approximately one in 10 Oklahoma children has a parent that will end up serving time in prison or jail.

The state must continue to pursue justice reform measures that emphasize treatment and rehabilitation for non-violent offenders. That is particularly true of youthful offenders who can be set back on the path to becoming law-abiding and productive citizens if given the right support. See our full list of criminal justice reform priorities on the opposite side of this page.

- ☒ SB 727 (Griffin/Ownbey): Improves transparency and accountability at DHS Child Welfare Division; reforms system to increase collaboration between guardians and child welfare workers; provides additional support and protections to foster parents
- ☒ SB 748 (Griffin/Baker): Creates a pilot program to improve socioeconomic outcomes for children in state custody
- ☒ SB 749 (Matthews/Nichols): Creates a program to support community food gardens in low-income areas, supporting better child nutrition

GOVERNMENT SPENDING

- ☒ HB 2311 (McCall/Schultz): Creates the Agency Spending Review Commission to provide recommendations on government funding and efficiencies

SPEAKER AND FACILITATOR BIOS

Tom Bates, Special Advisor for Child Welfare and Pinnacle Plan Implementation

Tom was named the Special Adviser for Child Welfare and Pinnacle Plan Implementation by Governor Fallin in October of 2015. In this role he works to support the efforts of Director Ed Lake and the staff of the Child Welfare Division to improve the lives of vulnerable children in our state. Prior to his current position, he served as First Assistant Attorney General to Attorney General Scott Pruitt, overseeing more than 90 civil and criminal attorneys and 40 agents employed by the Attorney General's office. Tom joined the Attorney General's office in 1999. During his 15 years with the office he litigated and prosecuted a number of high profile cases. Before serving as First Assistant, he was Chief of the Multicounty Grant Jury Unit and Chief of the Public Protection Unit. In addition to his duties as Special Adviser for Child Welfare, he also serves as the Acting Advocate General, overseeing the Office of Client Advocacy.

Amy Bruce, Communications and Development Manager, Whiz Kids Oklahoma

Amy Bruce is responsible for sharing the message about the activities and impact of Whiz Kids Oklahoma. Other duties at Whiz Kids include grant writing, development, event planning, and project management. Prior to joining Whiz Kids, she worked in higher education communications and marketing for 16 years, helping Oklahoma students and families prepare for college. She is a graduate of Oklahoma State University with a bachelor and master's degree in public relations and media management. Amy became involved in Whiz Kids by serving as a site coordinator at Del City Church of Christ. Outside of work, she and her husband, Cory, live in Choctaw and are the proud parents of three children.

Rebecca Craig, CARE Center

Rebecca Craig is a Forensic Interview and Manager of Programs for the CARE Center of Oklahoma City. Rebecca has been conducting forensic interviews for 7 years and has completed approximately 1600 interviews. Rebecca is trained in four national forensic interviewing protocols. Rebecca holds a Bachelor's degree in Social Work from the University of Oklahoma and has been in social services for 15 years. Ms. Craig provides training for all new DHS child welfare workers in Oklahoma County as well as her outreach work with the Oklahoma City Police Department Academy and the Oklahoma County Sheriff's Office. She lives in Norman, Oklahoma with her daughter.

Courtney Cullison, Policy Analyst, OK Policy

Courtney joined OK Policy in March 2017 as a policy analyst focusing on issues of economic opportunity and financial security. Before coming to OK Policy, Courtney worked in higher education, holding faculty positions at the University of Texas at Tyler and at Connors State College in eastern Oklahoma. A native Oklahoman, she received an Honors B.A. in Political Science from Oklahoma State University, and an M.A. and Ph.D. with emphasis in congressional politics and public policy from the University of Oklahoma. While at OU, Courtney was a fellow at the Carl Albert Congressional Research and Studies Center. As a professor she taught classes in American politics, public policy, and research methods and conducted original research with a focus on the relationship between representatives and the constituents they serve.

Joe Dorman, CEO, Oklahoma Institute for Child Advocacy

Joe brings extensive experience as a 12-year member of the Oklahoma House of Representatives, as well as active involvement in numerous civic, leadership, and youth-development organizations, including Leadership Oklahoma and the Oklahoma Academy. His awards have included the Journal Records “Achievers Under 40” and the Legislative Excellence Award from the Rural Health Association. Joe’s life-long commitment to public service and improving the lives of Oklahomans is well-suited for his role as the leader of the statewide, nonprofit child advocacy organization. As CEO of the Institute Joe has said, “It is an honor to be part of an organization that plays such a critical leadership role in promoting policies, programs, and partnerships that improve the lives of our state’s most vulnerable residents – its children and youth.

The Oklahoma Institute for Child Advocacy (OICA) is a statewide, nonprofit, nonpartisan organization whose mission is to improve the health, safety, education and economic well-being of Oklahoma’s children and youth by creating awareness, taking action and changing policy. For over 30 years, OICA has been a trusted, independent voice speaking on behalf of Oklahoma’s children and youth, particularly those whose life circumstances leave them vulnerable to poverty, poor health, victimization and abuse, disparities or lack of educational and economic opportunities. From the State Capitol to communities across the state, OICA is a persistent advocate for children on a broad range of issues, from infant mental health and early childhood to teen pregnancy prevention and youth in child welfare and juvenile justice systems. OICA coordinates Oklahoma KIDS COUNT, a premier source of data on child well-being that is part of the Annie E. Casey Foundation’s national KIDS COUNT Data Center. Website: www.oica.org

Shery Fair, Executive Director, Parent Promise

With a background in public relations, issue campaigns and nonprofit management, Sherry has championed the causes of children throughout her career at Oklahoma City Public Schools, Oklahoma Contemporary, the Oklahoma State Department of Education and the MAPS for Kids campaign. She has a bachelor’s degree in public relations from Purdue University.

Parent Promise is an organization working to strengthen Oklahoma families through the delivery of home-based parent education and family support programs that promote positive health and developmental outcomes for children, as well as school readiness. Parent Promise delivers the Parents As Teachers model to expectant families or those with a child five or under. The staff also is trained in the Exchange Parent Aide model which allows the organization to serve families with children through the age of 12. Both program models are evidence-based and require parent educators to participate in rigorous training before serving families. Parent Promise is accredited by the National Exchange Club Foundation and Prevent Child Abuse America and is the Oklahoma chapter of Prevent Child Abuse America.

Jason Grewe, Community Liaison Coordinator, TFI Family Connections and Texas Family Initiative
